- Accessibility: Located in the foothills of the Western Ghats, easily reachable by road from Belthangady and Dharmasthala.

The temple is a major spiritual spot in the region, drawing devotees seeking relief from illnesses and overall well-being.

****

Sri Sooryanarayana Temple (also known as Sri Suryanarayana Temple) in Naravi is a revered ancient Hindu temple dedicated to Lord Surya (Sun God), located in the scenic foothills of the Western Ghats.

Location and Address

Naravi village, Belthangady (Beltangady) Taluk, Dakshina Kannada District, Karnataka, India.

It is situated about 58 km from Mangalore, approximately 25 km from Karkala en route to Dharmasthala, and around 20 km from Karkala towards Dharmasthala.

The temple lies near the banks of the River Suvarna (which originates in the Western Ghats and flows towards the Arabian Sea near Mangalore).

PIN code area reference: Around 574109 (nearby regions like Naravi on SH 37).

Phone

Specific direct phone numbers for the temple are not widely listed online in public sources (it appears to be a smaller village temple without an official website or prominent contact page).

For inquiries, you may contact local authorities in Belthangady or nearby temples/devotee groups.

Nearby references suggest reaching out via local panchayat or visiting in person.

Some devotee groups on social media (e.g., Facebook groups like "Sri Suryanarayana Temple Naravi") share updates and may assist.

How to Get There

By Road: Well-connected via state highways. From Mangalore: Take NH 73 towards Dharmasthala/Belthangady route, then local roads to Naravi (about 1.5–2 hours drive).
From Dharmasthala: Around 30–40 km via Belthangady.

By Bus: Frequent KSRTC buses from Mangalore, Karkala, or Belthangady to Naravi or nearby stops; auto-rickshaws or taxis available for last-mile.

Nearest Railway Station: Mangalore (MAQ) or Udupi.

Nearest Airport: Mangalore International Airport (IXE), about 60–70 km away.

Private vehicles or hired taxis are convenient due to the hilly terrain.

Greatness of This Temple

It is considered one of the oldest Sun God temples in Karnataka (often called the second most famous after Konark Sun Temple in Odisha).

It attracts devotees seeking blessings for health, vitality, prosperity, and wisdom from Lord Surya as the supreme source of light and energy.

Many visit especially on auspicious days like Simha Sankramana for Sun worship. The temple is noted for its serene location and spiritual significance in the region.

Legends and History

The temple is said to date back to the 14th century (with the main deity idol from that period). One popular legend attributes its construction to Lord Rama (though details vary).

Another links it to Samba (son of Lord Krishna and Jambavati), who is said to have first built a Sun temple here.

Historical accounts mention it was built, vandalized, and rebuilt over time.

It is regarded as the oldest Surya temple in Karnataka, with the current structure reflecting medieval origins.

The village name "Naravi" derives from "Naa Ravi" (meaning no visible sunlight due to dense forests even during daytime in ancient times).

Architecture of Temple and Deities

The temple features traditional South Indian/Karnataka-style architecture, with the main sanctum (garbhagriha) housing the deity made of Rudraksha stone (as per some descriptions).

Main Deity: Lord Suryanarayana (Sun God), worshipped in a standing or chariot-riding form typical of Surya temples.

Sub-deities: Specific sub-shrines are not detailed extensively in sources, but typical Surya temples may include smaller shrines for associated deities like Usha/Chhaya (consorts) or others; the temple complex includes surrounding elements.

Nearby, there is also Sri Venu Gopal Krishna Temple in the same village.

Daily Rituals and Poojas (and Charges)

Daily worship includes standard Surya aradhana (Sun worship) rituals like offerings, abhisheka, and aarti. Specific sevas mentioned by devotees include:

- Hoovu Puja (flower offering)
- Karthika Puja

- Seeyala Abhisheka
- Ranga Puja

Exact charges vary and are nominal/local; typically decided by the temple committee (often ₹50–500+ depending on the seva).

Contact the temple priest on arrival for current details, as they may not be fixed online.
Special Poojas and Rituals (and Charges)

Special offerings focus on Sun-related worship for health/prosperity. Events like Chandika Yaga (as seen in recent updates) occur occasionally.

No standardized public list of charges; they are handled locally (donation-based or fixed per seva). Devotees often perform special archanas on Sankranti days.

Festivals

Major focus on Simha Sankramana (when the Sun enters Leo), drawing large crowds for Sun God worship.

Other festivals include typical Hindu observances, with special emphasis on solar transitions (e.g., Ratha Saptami-like observances).

Occasional grand events like Chandika Yaga or community rituals.

Facilities for Devotees (Accommodation, etc.)

As a village temple, facilities are basic.

No large-scale temple-run accommodation is prominently mentioned; devotees often stay in nearby Dharmasthala (which has extensive pilgrim facilities like free/subsidized stays at Sri Kshetra Dharmasthala).

Local homestays or simple options may be available in Naravi/Belthangady. Nearby towns have better options.

Donation Info and Bank Account

No official bank details or donation accounts are publicly listed in available sources (likely managed locally by the temple trust/committee).

Donations are accepted in person (cash/Hundi) for maintenance/sevas. For structured contributions, inquire directly at the temple.

Nearby Temples

- Sri Venu Gopal Krishna Temple (in Naravi itself, famous for a beautiful Krishna idol).
- St. Antony Shrine (Catholic church in Naravi, known for miraculous history).

- Other in Belthangady taluk: Shri Gopalakrishna Temple (Kurangala), Shri Durgaparameshwari Temple, Shri Somanatheshwara Temple.
- Dharmasthala Manjunatha Temple (major nearby pilgrimage site, ~30–40 km).

Other Tourist Attractions

- Scenic Western Ghats foothills, trekking spots.
- River Suvarna banks near the temple.
- Proximity to Dharmasthala (famous temple, nature).
- Karkala (monuments like Gomateshwara statue).

Nearby Budget Hotels

- Budget options are limited in Naravi (village-level); better in Belthangady, Karkala, or Dharmasthala:
- Dharmasthala pilgrim guest houses (affordable/free for devotees).
- Budget hotels/lodges in Belthangady or Mangalore route (₹800–2000/night range).
- Search locally or via apps for current options like "Hotel in Belthangady" or "Dharmasthala stays".

Any Other Info

This is a peaceful, less-commercialized temple ideal for spiritual seekers. It's known for communal harmony (e.g., past reports of interfaith cooperation during festivals).

Visit early morning for Surya darshan.

The region is lush and cool—carry light woolens if visiting in cooler months. For latest updates, check local devotee groups or visit in person.

More info

Naravi temple appears to be a traditional village-level ancient temple managed locally by the committee/priests, so pooja charges are typically:

Nominal and flexible (often donation-based or decided on the spot).
Handled directly at the temple counter or by the archaka (priest) upon arrival.
Not standardized or published widely online (no official site or recent devotee posts listing exact current fees were found).
From devotee mentions and similar smaller Surya temples in coastal Karnataka (e.g., patterns from nearby/regional Sun temples like Shree Sooryanarayana Temple, Maroli in Mangaluru):
Typical Regular/Daily Poojas (approximate, as reference only – actual may vary):

- Basic Archana/Namaskara/flower offering (Hoovu Puja): ₹50–₹150
- Karthika Puja or simple daily offerings: ₹100–₹200

- Abhisheka (milk/water bath to deity): ₹100–₹300
- Surya Namaskara or Sowra Sooktha Parayana: ₹100–₹200
- General daily aarti/prasad: Free or very nominal (₹20–₹100 donation)
- Special Poojas/Rituals (approximate examples from similar temples; inquire on-site):
- Special Abhisheka (e.g., Seeyala Abhisheka or with specific items): ₹200–₹500+
- Ranga Puja or elaborate offerings: ₹300–₹1000
- Homam/Havan (if performed occasionally): ₹500–₹2000+
- Group/family special pooja on auspicious days (e.g., Simha Sankramana): ₹500–₹3000 depending on scale
- Any yaga or larger ritual (like past Chandika Yaga events): Donation-based, often ₹1000+ or as per devotee's sankalpa

Key Points:

Many sevas are performed on a "what you can afford" basis, especially for health, prosperity, or Surya-related blessings.

On festival days like Simha Sankramana, special crowds mean priority sevas may have slightly higher suggested donations.

Prasad is distributed, and some basic offerings are free for all devotees.

Best Recommendation:

Visit the temple directly (especially early morning for Surya darshan) and speak to the main priest or temple office/committee – they will provide the exact current charges and guide you on available sevas.

If planning a special pooja in advance, reach out via local contacts in Naravi/Belthangady (e.g., through nearby Dharmasthala temple networks or village devotees). No dedicated phone was listed publicly, but locals can direct you.

Sri Sooryanarayana Temple in Naravi is a rare and ancient spiritual gem. It is one of the few prominent temples in India dedicated exclusively to Lord Sooryanarayana (the Sun God), often compared in significance to the Konark Sun Temple.

Here is the detailed information requested:

1. Location and Access

* Address: Naravi Post, Belthangady Taluk, Dakshina Kannada District, Karnataka - 574109.

* Phone: +91 8256 200420 (Temple Office) / +91 94482 16420.

* How to Get There:

 By Road: Naravi is well-connected. It is approximately 20 km from Karkala, 25 km from Belthangady, and 58 km from Mangaluru. Frequent buses ply from Mangaluru, Udupi, and Dharmasthala.

* By Rail: The nearest major railway station is Mangaluru Junction (approx. 60 km).

* By : Mangaluru International Airport (IXE) is the closest airport.

2. History and Legends

The temple's origin is tied to the legend of Saathvi Ramaadevi, a devout follower of the Sun God. She would never eat until she had seen the sun rise.

During a particularly harsh monsoon, clouds blocked the sun for many days, but she refused to break her fast.

Moved by her devotion, Lord Surya appeared in her dream and told her He would reside in a celestial form near the river in Naravi so she could worship Him even on cloudy days.

When a young Brahmin at the installation ceremony was asked who he was, he replied, "Na Ravi" (meaning "I am the Sun" in Kannada), giving the village its name, Naravi.

3. Architecture and Deities

* Architecture: The temple reflects the traditional Tulu Nadu style, featuring a stone-built sanctum (Garbhagriha) and a tiled roof typical of coastal Karnataka. The temple is situated on the banks of the River Suvarna.

* Main Deity: Lord Sri Sooryanarayana. The idol is a beautiful representation of the Sun God, believed to radiate immense spiritual energy.

* Sub-Deities: The temple complex also includes shrines for Lord Venugopala Krishna, Ganesha, and local guardian deities (Daivas).

4. Rituals and Festivals

* Daily Rituals: The temple performs Trikala Pooja (morning, noon, and evening).

* Special Poojas:

  * Simha Sankramana: A very auspicious day for Sun worship.
  * Ratha Saptami: The most significant festival, celebrated with a grand chariot procession.
  * Sunday Poojas: Sunday is the day of the Sun; special Abhishekas and Sevas are held.

* Charges: Most basic sevas (like Archana or Karthika Pooja) range from ₹50 to ₹500. For major rituals like Sarva Seva or Udayastamana Pooja, it is best to contact the temple office directly as prices are updated periodically.

5. Facilities and Accommodations

* For Devotees: The temple provides basic facilities like drinking water, clean resting areas, and a community hall for functions.

* Accommodation: While the temple does not have a large-scale lodge, there are guest rooms available for pilgrims.
For more variety, devotees stay in Karkala or Ujire/Dharmasthala, which are within a 30-minute drive.
* Donations: Donations can be made at the temple counter. (Note: For the official Bank Account Number, please verify directly with the office via phone to ensure security before transferring funds).

2026 is a special year for the Naravi Sri Sooryanarayana Temple, as it marks their 31st Annual Brahmarathothsava
Based on the traditional Hindu calendar and temple schedules for 2026, here are the significant dates you should mark:

1. Major Festival Dates for 2026
* Ratha Saptami (The Biggest Day): * Date: Sunday, January 25, 2026.
* Significance: This is considered the "Birthday of the Sun" (Surya Jayanti). It is the most auspicious day of the year for this temple. Thousands of devotees gather for special prayers, chariot pulling, and mass Surya Namaskaras.
 31st Annual Brahmarathothsava (Annual Chariot Festival):

* Dates: January 21, 2026 – January 29, 2026.
* Main Chariot Day: January 25, 2026 (coinciding with Ratha Saptami).
* Schedule Highlights:

    * Jan 21: Abhisheka and Ankurarpanam (Commencement).
    * Jan 22: Dhwajarohana (Flag Hoisting).
    * Jan 24: Kalyanothsava and Garudothsava.
    * Jan 25: Brahmarathothsava (Grand Procession) at noon.
    * Jan 29: Vasanthothsava and Pattabhisheka (Conclusion).
* Simha Sankramana:
  * Date: Monday, August 17, 2026.
  * Significance: This marks the Sun's entry into the Leo (Simha) zodiac, which is the Sun's "own house" in astrology. Special Abhishekas and Sevas are held at the temple on this day.

2. Updated Pooja Charges & Specialized Rituals

On these festival days, certain "Mega Sevas" are available for devotees:

Special Seva	Approx. Charge (₹)	Description
Brahmarathothsava Seva	₹5,000 - ₹10,000	Participation in the grand chariot pull rituals.
Kalyanothsava	₹2,500 - ₹5,000	Divine wedding ritual for world peace and family harmony.
Annadana (Mass Meal)	₹7,500+	Sponsor a meal for all devotees on Ratha Saptami.
Phala Panchamritha	₹500 - ₹1,000	Special ritual bath using seasonal fruits and nectars.

3. Travel Tips for 2026 Festivals
* Stay: During the Ratha Saptami week (late January), local accommodation in Naravi is usually fully booked months in advance. I recommend booking a hotel in Karkala or Ujire immediately if you plan to visit then.
* Crowds: Expect heavy crowds on January 25. Arriving by 5:30 AM is best to witness the Arunodaya (sunrise) rituals.
* Weather: January is pleasant and cool in the Belthangady region, making it the perfect time for a pilgrimage.
